care instruction stainless steel furniture

Your furniture was manufactured out of the international quality grade 304, which is recognized as the high industrial standard for outdoor patio furniture. In general stainless steel is resistant to corrosion, but its surface changes under salt water conditions or chloride environments (such as coastal areas and swimming pools). The surface will show small brown spots, which do not question the durability of the furniture.

Proactively we recommend to NOT place this furniture in these environments.

To maintain a clean surface of the furniture we suggest a regular maintenance and care of the product. In aggressive climate (coastal areas and swimming pools) we recommend to clean the furniture every 2 weeks with clear water.

Before the furniture passed our high standard of quality control the surface was intensively hand polished with a polishing pad. By that measure the surface becomes clean and very resistant.

With the supplied polishing pad (1pcs / box) you can repeat that surface treatment by your own. The polishing pad can be used many times and do not need to be replaced after few times usage. Always polish in the direction of the grain, which is already applied to the surface. Do not use other hard brushes. Do not remove the Textilene and Leisuretex fabric on the arms or seat-back units – if existing. Once it is removed it will be difficult to reassemble it again. If you face intensive dirt we suggest to purchase stainless steel cleaner in a pro shop.

An additional information: fingerprints cannot be avoided once the surface is freshly polished.

Even solpuri furniture is made for outdoor use, we suggest you to protect material in harsh weather conditions and in winter time by storage indoor or under a roof. By that measure you protect the materials and the product lasts longer.

With above recommendations you will have many years enjoyable moments with your solpuri furniture.
